

On-line Resources for Information on the New Family Code (Moudawana) in Morocco

http://www.consulatdumaroc.ca/moudawana_fr.pdf : Detailed 78-page chart comparing the articles of the new Moudawana with the previous Personal Status Code and the proposed amendments presented by members of Parliament (in French).

http://www.consulatdumaroc.ca/moudawana_ar.pdf A 37-page summary of the new Moudawana (in Arabic).

<http://www.justice.gov.ma/> The website of the Moroccan Ministry of Justice contains the complete text of the new Moudawana (in Arabic).

<http://www.marocainsdumonde.gov.ma/Femmes.asp> The website of the Moroccan Ministre Déléguée chargée de la communauté marocaine résidant à l'étranger contains the complete text of the new Moudawana (in Arabic).

<http://www.sefsas.gov.ma/> The website of the Moroccan Secrétariat d'État Chargé de la Famille, de l'Enfance et des Personnes Handicapées contains the complete text of the new Moudawana (in Arabic).

<http://www.amanjordan.org/downloads/index.php?action=file&id=81> The website of the Sisterhood is Global Institute – Jordan – contains the complete text of the new Moudawana (in Arabic).

<http://www.learningpartnership.org/> The website of the Women's Learning Partnership contains a summary description of the new Moudawana (in English).

<http://www.map.co.ma/mapfr/moudawana/portee.htm> The website of the news agency MAP contains a collection of news articles on the Moudawana.

<http://www.mincom.gov.ma/french/generalites/codefamille/codefamille.html> The website of the Moroccan Ministry of Communication has French versions of official documents, summary of reforms and reactions to the new law.

<http://www.femmesdumaroc.com/Rubriques/VosDroits/Nosnouveauxdroits/Decryptagedunouveaucodedelafamille> The website of the monthly Moroccan magazine Femmes du maroc has an on-line version of their special new Moudawana supplement written by a lawyer explaining and analyzing the reforms in detail (in French).